

OCEAN VIEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH JUNE 2019

From the Pastor Terry Dougherty

Charism and Shalom, grace and peace to you, friends in Christ.

I'm sure when most of us look at our calendars, the thing we're most conscious of now is Summer, in its two versions: the time between Memorial and Labor days, which we both cherish and dread here in Lower, Slower Delaware, and the real thing, beginning on June 21st this year. But as Christians, something else is happening; we are moving out of our long season of seasons, which began last December and will be done June 10th. We had Advent, Epiphany, Lent, and Easter; we practiced patience, joy, inquiry, penitence, self-forgetfulness and the awareness of newness in God. Now we will enter the longer season of Ordinary Time (Trinitytide; the shorter is Epiphanytide). That name doesn't have to do with ordinariness - as though any part of God-ordained time could be ordinary! - but with the sense of the root word ordinal; it is time that is counted. In any given year, there are 33 or 34 weeks of it, and it can begin to seem ordinary! But it follows a day anything but ordinary; that is, Pentecost; and that day is more than an event in history. Pentecost is a celebration of the formation of the church, and of all of our membership in this organic unity called the church.

We have all passed through the water: Of Exodus, of Baptism, of footwashing. We've been made clean, and we've been anointed with the Spirit. We've been received, and we have received - grace upon grace. All of our Christian walk since then has been the working out of our individual gifts for service; gifts for others. The Book of Acts reveals the shape of the common life of the church, but "the astounding gift of Jesus to His disciples was the invitation to partake of His own intimacy with the Father" (Patrick Henry Reardon). Taken together, this means "what happens when human beings are brought into a relationship with Jesus Christ by faith as a community in which everyone's gifts are set free for the service of others. The community that most perfectly represents what God wants to see in the human world is one where the resources of each person are offered for every other... it's also that everyone is able to give to others, to have the dignity of being a giver" (Rowan Williams). What has happened to each of us is that, having been called first, we have responded; now we learn and re-learn the patience and faith that ground our optimism: that God is making all things new, even as we have been made new. We are now repaired, and called out to be the repairers of the breach. For Nehemiah, that meant repairing the perfect band around Jerusalem; for us it means repairing the perfect bond between God and humans. This requires our prayer, and our presence.

N.T. Wright has it like this: “the Christian vocation is to be in prayer, in the Spirit, at the place where the world is in pain... as we embrace that vocation, we discover it to be the way of following Christ... with arms outstretched, holding on simultaneously to the pain of the world, and to the love of God”. There’s another contradiction implicit in this one: the discomfort of newness laid up against the comfort of tradition; of our changed self engaging norms that prefer to be static. It is all too easy to describe the bounds of the community passively; it is the people who think like us, do things like us, who blend in and never challenge us. But as in our personal walk, so in our walk as a community: God is ever calling us to where we have not been, having sent Jesus on ahead. So we go forward, trusting our practices, trusting the founder and perfecter of our faith, trusting the bonds of love. Do they overcome? God says they do, and that means they will.

The church, any church, our church, teaches all the time. A good deal of that teaching is conscious, but still more of it is unconscious - or just waiting to be brought to consciousness. It’s like the saying about preaching: we should do it all the time, and we should use words if we must. I believe OVPC teaches the value of all persons, consciously and unconsciously. We do so from our first gentle reaching out to visitors to our last faithful goodbyes to lifelong friends. We do it by reaching out with love, long before we reach out with requirements or requests.

But every church needs to keep that fresh, to never tire in our zeal for our living, loving Lord. To accomplish that, we need to never bask in ordinary time; we need constantly to reacquaint and reconnect with our Advent and Epiphany and Lenten and Easter selves, to never lose the wonder of our acceptance and incorporation into this wonderful work of love our God has done and is doing. All this year, let us commit to mindful growth in our love, and in our practices; to self-examination and openness to the Holy Spirit. Let us continue to bear fruits of the Spirit for the sake of our neighbors, near and far.

I continually thank my God for all of you; may our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ bless your walk of faith!

“Prayer Time” Class Resumes this Summer

“Prayer Time”-- a time set aside for prayer for ourselves and others, learning more about prayer, and ways of making prayer a more integral part of each day--has been on hiatus for two years. Bev Bailey, Prayer Time’s convener, has decided to offer this unique time every third Sunday after worship this summer. The group will meet on June 16th, July 21st, and August 18th in the Sanctuary. We will be looking particularly at prayers of gratitude (using the book Words of Gratitude for mind, body, and soul, by Robert A. Emmons & Joanna Hill), and prayers from the Iona Community (using the book Celtic Prayers from Iona by J. Philip Newell.) Some of you may have the Celtic Prayers book, as we used it previously. Both books are available on Amazon, but are not necessary for Prayer Time. If you would like 45- minutes of quiet discussion about prayer and ways of being in conversation with our God; and time of silent meditation and prayer, please join us). On June 16, we will meet after the Father’s Day Brunch...For more information or questions, talk with Bev Bailey.

Many thanks to the men for the lovely Mother's Day brunch.

“Eehhhh....how ya doin’?”

Twice each month, our Stephen Ministers gather to encourage one another in this caring ministry. Recently, the Continuing Education sessions have begun to focus on “Losses Related to Aging”.

In their book “Aging: The Fulfillment of Life”, Henri Nouwen and Walter Gaffney wrote:

To care [for another], one must [first] offer one’s own vulnerable self as a source of healing. To care for the aging, therefore, means first of all to enter into close contact with your own aging self, to sense your own time, and to experience the movements of your own life cycle. From this aging self, healing can come forth and others can be invited to cast off the paralyzing fear for their future. As long as we think that “caring” means only being nice and friendly to old people, paying them a visit, bringing them a flower, or offering them a ride, we are apt to forget how much more important it is for us to be willing and able to be present to those we care for. How can we be fully present with the elderly when we are hiding from our own aging? How can we listen to their pains when their stories open wounds in us that we are [busily] trying to cover up? How can we offer companionship when we want to keep our own aging self out of the room? And, how can we gently touch the vulnerable spots in old people’s lives when we have armored our own vulnerable self with fear and blindness? Only as we enter into solidarity with the aging and speak out of common experience can we help others to discover the freedom of old age. By welcoming the elderly into our aging self, we can be good hosts, and healing can take place.

With this perspective of “knowing one’s own aging self”, our Stephen Ministers are guided through in-depth study and discussion about myths and losses, such as

Myth of Senility	Myth of “You Can’t Teach an Old Dog New Tricks”
Myth of Chronological Age	Myth that Older Persons Isolate Themselves
Physical Losses (strength, senses, appearance)	Loss of Job and Community Standing
Loss of Safety	Loss of Power
Loss of One’s Home	Loss of Dignity
Losing One’s Own Life	Loss of Family and Friends through Death

Through this Continuing Education, the Stephen Ministers learn how to adapt their caring skills of reflective listening and distinctively Christian care. They are able to draw out the feelings, hopes, and fears of their care receivers by first confronting their personal thoughts and feelings about their own aging.

Our Stephen Ministers are well qualified to help you or someone you know going through a difficult time, by meeting with you, one-on-one, for confidential conversations. To learn more, speak with Pastor Terry or Elaine Smith (the Referrals Coordinator). Elaine can be reached at 908.859.2901 (home) or 908.319.4858 (cell).

June 2019 Deacon Mission Habitat for Humanity

The Deacons Mission Project for June 2019 is Habitat for Humanity. Habitat for Humanity was founded in 1976 by Millard and Linda Fuller, building on the idea of a community farm outside of Americus, Georgia started by Clarence Jordan. Since its founding in 1976, Habitat for Humanity has helped more than 800,000 homes. Habitat for Humanity is located around the world with branches representing the US and Canada, Asia and the Pacific, Europe, the Middle East and Africa and Latin America and the Caribbean. Former President Jimmy Carter and his wife, Roselynn, have been Habitat partners since 1984.

Habitat for Humanity is devoted to building simple, decent and affordable housing. Their mission statement is "seeking to put God's love into action." Habitat for Humanity brings people together to build homes, communities and hope. The principles for Habitat for Humanity are:

1. Demonstrate the love of Jesus Christ.
2. Focus on shelter.
3. Advocate for affordable housing.
4. Promote dignity and hope.
5. Support sustainable and transformative development.

The Sussex County chapter of Habitat for Humanity was established in 1991. Habitat for Humanity offers a hand up, not a hand out. Local families are selected on the basis of the need for housing, ability to pay an affordable mortgage and their willingness to partner. Homeowner candidate invest hundreds of hours of "sweat equity" by helping to build their homes and the homes of others. The Georgetown affiliate has built 106 homes in Sussex County with plans to build 94 new homes during the next 7 years. They have also expanded their major and minor repairs program to help address over 4, 000 substandard housing units identified by Delaware State Housing Authority.

We will be using the Horizon Bible Study Book again next year. If you do not have one please contact Marti. It is called "Love Carved in Stone", a study of the Ten Commandments. This next year we are all asked to please read the chapter to be studied ahead of time. It will make it easier for leader and we will get more out of the study. At May Circle we all pledged to do this.

You need to be thinking ahead to fall and our next fundraiser, the Jumble. It will be held Saturday, October 12, 8:30-12:00 with set-up October 11. Summer is a good time to be gathering your items for the Jumble. Remember we have many booths to fill with goodies; glassware, small household items, knickknacks, children's toys, books, jewelry, and potted plants. Also please get out your favorite recipes since we need lots of yummy goodies for the bake table. Please no clothing, shoes, pocketbooks, or items that are broken or soiled.

As you can see the Sewing Circle does not vacation, we are a busy, fruitful group that plans events and brings them to a successful conclusion. Please come and join us, we love having new people and new ideas. All welcome!

Good News for 80 Year Olds

Submitted by Amy Peoples

I have good news for you. The first 80 years are the hardest. The second 80 years are a succession of birthday parties. Once you reach 80, everyone wants to carry your baggage and help you up the steps. If you forget your name or anyone else's name, or an appointment, or your own telephone number, or promise to be three places at the same time, or can't remember how many grandchildren you have, you need only to explain that you are 80.

Being 80 is a lot better than being 70. At 70, people are mad at you for everything. At 80, you have a perfect excuse no matter what you do. If you act foolishly, it's your second childhood. Everybody is looking for symptoms of softening of the brain. Being 70 is no fun at all. At that age, they expect you to retire to Florida and complain about arthritis (they used to call it lumbago) and you ask everyone to stop mumbling because you can't understand them. (Actually, your hearing is about 50% gone.)

If you survive until you are 80, everybody is surprised that you are still alive. They treat you with respect for having lived so long. Actually, they seem surprised that you can walk and talk sensibly. So please folks, try to make it to 80. It's the best time of life. People forgive you for everything. If you ask me, life begins at 80!

A grandfather was walking through his yard when he heard his granddaughter repeating the alphabet in a tone of voice that sounded like a prayer. He asked her what she was doing. The little girl explained: "I'm praying, but I can't think of exactly the right words, so I'm just saying all the letters, and God will put them together for me because He knows what I'm thinking."

Please remember to be extra diligent during the summer months, regarding cleaning up after your events. Those “pesky” insects are just waiting to eat the crumbs we leave and to check out the trash cans that were not emptied. Your help is appreciated.

Friday Night At The Movies

Join us Friday June 14th at 5:30 at Bob & Elaine Wolf's home to share a potluck and enjoy a movie together. Please make note of the date change - we hope to see you all at the Deacon's annual dinner on Friday the 7th with a special guest speaker from Habitat for Humanity.

This month, in honor of Memorial Day and Flag Day we will be showing the 2009 film 'Taking Chance' starring Kevin Bacon. This movie is based on the journal kept by Lt. Col. Michael Strobl who volunteered to escort the body of fallen Pfc. Chance Phelps killed at age 19 in Iraq. This is a compelling film that shows not only the respect given to our fallen heroes by members of the military but by everyday people who honor both Pfc Phelps for his sacrifice but also Lt. Strobl as he accompanies him home to his family. (Rated TV-PG)

If you are interested in hosting movie night, or have a special movie request, please contact Bob Wolf. Remember that you can be a host without having the movie at your home ---
